Acknowledgements

First of all, I thank to all academic and administrative staffs Multiple Cropping Center (MCC), who have supported me one way or other way to carry out my study smoothly and make the environment homely here in MCC of Chiang Mai University.

Specifically, I like to express my deepest appreciation to Dr. Kamol Ngamsomsuke, thesis advisor; who has constantly and tirelessly guided me right from the conceptualization of thesis to the end. Similarly, I also thank to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Benchaphun Ekasingh and Dr. Methi Ekasingh thesis committee members; who have invaluable also guided and commented me right from conceptualization of research and to improving research methodology and even to analysis during seminars and personal discussions. Besides, I also thank to Ajarn Phrek Gypmantasiri for his constructive remarks during seminars. Similarly, I appreciate to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Aree Wiboonpongse for her guidance particularly in building the model during my econometrics classes. Additionally, I would like to express my appreciation to the external examiner Assoc. Prof. Nongluck Suphanchaimat for her valuable remarks during my thesis defense. Besides, I appreciate to all of my friends (Kailash, Bhim, Dophu, Peiris, Kumudu, Hasta, Ha, Duc, Wattana and Rasmey) of my batch for their comments while preparing seminar papers.

I thank to the Ministry of Agriculture and Cooperatives, His Majesty's government of Nepal for their nomination to me to pursue my master degree here in Chiang Mai University. I also thank to Mr. Jayendra Man Sulpya and Mr. Lalit Rimal, staffs of ministry for their support in searching the useful documents for my research. Besides, I also thank to staffs of District Agriculture Development Office and District Livestock Development Office of Kailali for their help during data collection. Moreover, it would be unfair if I do not particular spell out my appreciation to field staffs of Agriculture Service Center, Chaumala for their excellent arrangement for group discussion and interviews. Apart from this, I extend my deep appreciation to the Department of Technical and Economic Cooperation (DTEC) of Thai government for supporting me financially to carry out my study program.

Moreover, I extend my gratitude Ms. Woraluck Suteerawantana (Khun Om); who is one of the excellent staffs of MCC, for her superb arrangement of administrative works for study and for her eagerness to help even in her difficult time.

In my family and relatives, first of all I thank to my first cousins Mr. Sobhit Bhatta and Mr. Mohan Joshi for their excellent accompany during the data collection. Moreover, I would like to dedicate this thesis to my father Mr. Raghunath Mishra and my loving mother Mrs. Tikeshowari Devi Mishra, who have constantly encouraging me for the betterment of my study and suggesting me for maintaining the high morale even in difficult time. Besides, I would like to thank my brother Mr. Dilli Raj Mishra for his encouragement. Last but not the least; I would like to express appreciation to my wife Ms. Kalpana Mishra (Kalpu) and my beloved daughter Anusha, for releasing me from the all other household burdens and encouraging me for the betterment of my study here in Chiang Mai.
