I would like to thank the Faculty of Architecture, the Graduate School and Chiang Mai University, for the scholarship and opportunities for understanding. Specially, I would like to acknowledge Dr. Apichoke Lekagul, who has taught me how to build a research. I will always remember our discussions for hours together. Besides, I also would like to thank “Ajan” Fred Holtmans, who is my English editor.

I would like to thank professors and officers of Faculty of Architecture, Hue College of Sciences, Hue University, who has helped me in procedure of the research.

I would like to thank the participants of this research, who are the occupants of Dong Da apartment complex, Mr. Le Quy Dinh (the General Director of Hue Construction Company) and officers of the housing management, Hue Construction Office.

Beyond thinking, love gives me the spiritual power to overcome problems. I would like to share this love with my parents, my wife and my daughter!

“...The best-predicting Architects related their evaluations to building’s conceptual properties in a manner similar to that of laypersons...” (Brown & Gifford, 2001)
