ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are many people whom I wish to thank for their help and support in completing this project. Firstly, I would like to thank my major advisor, Associate Professor Dr. Danai Boonyakiat, for his helpful advice, encouragement and always follow up this project process. He also inspired my thinking management, knowledge synthesizing and thesis writing. Additionally, I would like to thank my co-advisor, Associate Professor Dr. Sombat Srichuwong and Associate Professor Abhinya Plikomol who gave valuable comments, suggestions and helpful criticism in the preparation and completion of the thesis. I am also deeply thank to Associate Professor Dr. Nuchnart Jonglaekha and Assistant Professor Dr. Vicha Sardsud and for being my examining committee, and providing valuable comments with useful criticism as well.

I especially wish to thank Professor Dr. Nithiya Rattanapanone and Assistant Professor Dr. Usawadee Chanasut for their useful suggestion.

I would like to say thank you to the Postharvest Technology Research Institute and Postharvest Laboratory of Horticulture, Department of Plant Science and Natural Resource, Faculty of Agriculture, Chiang Mai University for permission of access to the instruments and supplying research chemicals and technical assistance. Also thank to Mrs. Budsabong Kuntalue at Electron Microscopy Research and Service Center, Faculty of Science, Chiang Mai University for her advices and helps in sample preparation for anatomical analysis and using the electron microscope. I would also like to thank Ms. Pimjai Seehanam, Mr. Phonkrit Maniwara and Ms. Phuangphet Hemrattrakun for their support, complementation and finding solution for thesis difficulties. I am so grateful and appreciate for them.

Foremost, the financial support provided from the Office of the Higher Education Commission, Thailand for the Ph. D. Program, Postharvest Technology Research Institute, Postharvest Technology Innovation Center and The Graduate School, Chiang Mai University are acknowledged.

Lastly, the biggest thank to my parents for their love and support. They have been beside me in every endeavor that I have undertaken.
